Cumberland County Law Enforcement Agencies Complete Child Abduction Response Team Training

CUMBERLAND COUNTY, TN – Investigators and Detectives from the Cumberland County Sheriff's Office, Crossville Police Department, and Fairfield Glade Police Department recently participated in a specialized training session focused on child abduction response. Hosted by the Algood Police Department, this intensive training was led by Special Agents from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and aimed at enhancing local law enforcement capabilities in critical child abduction scenarios.

The training covered essential topics, including the phases and strategies of investigative response, cellular analysis, Tennessee Bureau of Investigation Amber Alert criteria, social media exploitation, false allegations, and case studies related to child abduction. By equipping officers with the latest tools and techniques, the training aims to improve response times and overall effectiveness in safeguarding children.

The training session featured participation from key personnel, including Lt. Gary Howard and Investigator Jon Human from the Cumberland County Sheriff's Office, Detective Fatima Pena from the Fairfield Glade Police Department, and Detective Jon Tollett and Detective Sergeant Tim Vandever from the Crossville Police Department.

As law enforcement agencies continue to work together to strengthen their response capabilities, the safety and protection of children remain a top priority.

Fatima Pena
Police Detective, 5 Years
Manager, Kate Self

Fatima Pena was the first Fairfield Glade Police Department's recruit to complete the basic law enforcement training academy while employed with the agency. Throughout her career, she has been a leading example of what our department strives for and exemplifies the qualities of a great police officer. She is always a servant; not only to her community and department, but also to her family. She is a team player, being the first to volunteer for extra shifts or lightening the mood with her bubbly personality. During her employment, she has led the department in traffic enforcement initiatives. She serves as a Field Training Officer within the department. She is also an interpreter for all Cumberland County first responders. These accolades have led to various commendations including the Life Savers Award, Officer of the Year, and her promotion to Detective. All of her qualities make her a well-rounded person and the department is honored to have her as a part of the team.

Department Highlights

Please congratulate the officers and members of the Fairfield Glade Department, because of their dedicated efforts to traffic enforcement and education the department was awarded 2nd place in the 11-25 officer category.

Let's congratulate our local partnering agency, Crossville Police Department, for coming in third in their respective size category.

Car Seat Check Point

 Robin Smith Williams is with Ben Griffin and 6 others at Crossville Head Start Center. August 27 at 8:23 PM · Crossville · 🌐

Rhea County Sheriffs Department's Safe Journey program joined forces with Crossville Police Dept and Fairfield Glade Police Department to offer car seat safety checks today at Crossville Head Start.

During our time together, we were able to evaluate 17 car seats/booster seats, speak with many families and offer safer options to protect their little ones during traveling.

A total of 8 seats needed replacement for various reasons.

We are thankful for partnerships that help us increase the number of children having safer travels.
